

ENVIRONMENTAL TECHNOLOGIES TRADE MISSION

Malaysia • Thailand • Philippines

April 24-May 3, 2006

Southeast Asia seeks innovative environmental solutions.

The U.S. Department of Commerce's Southeast Asia Environmental Technologies Trade Mission offers a cost-effective way to meet pre-screened business contacts in Malaysia, Thailand, and the Philippines.

Excellent prospects for U.S. exporters are fueled by rising demand in all three markets, particularly for solid waste and wastewater treatment, air pollution control, industrial waste recycling, and contaminated land remediation.

Malaysia:

- $800 million environmental market
- Imports $270 million in environmental equipment
- United States is this market's leading foreign supplier

Thailand:

- $1.4 billion environmental market
- Regulations heavily enforced by Royal Thai Pollution Control Department
- 10-year investments expected to reach $1.5 billion for water, $500 million for air, and $400 million for solid waste

The Philippines:

- $700 million environmental market
- 8% annual growth in environmental market predicted over next three years
- Government and private-sector programs driving demand for technologies in broad range of sectors

For only $2,950 per company (not including travel and lodging costs), you'll benefit from your own schedule of one-on-one business appointments, in-depth market briefings, meetings with government and industry officials, and more!
